The reception area

In the competitive world of hotels, designers today aim to blend the best of technology with tradition, combining the charm of yesterday with the demands of modern day life. Hotels offer an ever-wider range of services, from restaurants and bars to fitness centres, swimming pools, boutiques and hair salons, all designed to fulfil their customers' every wish.

Today's guests select hotels that offer comfort in every detail, ensuring their total well-being. Totally solid, Corian® is made of natural minerals and has aesthetic and functional qualities that are particularly appreciated in the hotel sector.

It makes perfect sense, thanks to its inherent hygiene and functionality, its style and flexibility in design. But Corian® has an added dimension when combined with other materials, giving hotels a soul and creating a unique atmosphere. Corian® creates subtle, individual environments where elegance and comfort are perfectly balanced.

The guestroom

Tastefully furnished and fitted with just the right details, the guestroom is an inviting cocoon for the weary traveller. With its contemporary look and its comforting feel, Corian® shapes the setting, leaving a lasting impression on your guests.

A bedside table, a desk and a luggage rack here reveal its clean, refined lines, while a stylish shelf unit there blends effortlessly into a tight corner.

The bathroom

In the bathroom, the gentleness and warmth of Corian® create an oasis of calm, where your guests can regain their strength.

Available in a variety of soft, soothing colours, or in deliberately contrasting and invigorating hues, bath cladding in Corian®, with matching vanity top and soap holder, helps to smooth away the physical tensions of the day.

On a functional level, Corian® offers impeccable standards of hygiene. Solid and non-porous, it is joined without visible seams, creating vanity tops that appear to have been made from a single piece of Corian® and are therefore simple to clean.

The bathroom

But Corian® has other assets beyond the functional. Whether it is used in a homely, relaxed setting or a resolutely sophisticated decor, it satisfies the most eclectic of tastes. Corian® can be shaped to cover the walls of a shower room, seamlessly integrating essential details such as a soap holder; or moulded to form stylish, original vanity tops.

Any design is possible with Corian®, however daring, however functional. Its range of colours opens up countless possibilities and its inconspicuous seams allow you to create pure lines that blend perfectly with contemporary bathroom fittings or strikingly stylish design details.

Corian® also combines beautifully with wood, stainless steel or glass to create original units. Whether you opt for a revitalising shower or a relaxing bath, Corian® ensures an unforgettable experience.

The bar and the restaurant

Ideal for a quick, light lunch, the buffet welcomes guests to its Corian® counter. The material can be adapted to suit all requirements, from fitted, covered containers to cold-storage areas, ensuring the same cool freshness wherever it is used. The gourmet restaurant with its Corian® tabletops satisfies the most demanding standards of both beauty and hygiene.

In the background, the subdued lighting of the bar helps guests relax. In a warm, muted atmosphere, the Corian® surface uses colours daringly to reflect the cocktails prepared by the barman. Through informal chats, confidences or the final details of a negotiation, the world is shaped and reshaped along this bar or around the occasional tables in Corian®. And nothing not a spilt drink or a forgotten cigarette will mar its beauty and elegance.

The benefits of Corian®

Corian® is the original solid surface material made only by DuPont. It is a material made of natural minerals, colored pigments and acrylic resin. Its more than 30 year presence in hotels is due to the excellent benefits it offers.

Endless design possibilities:

The thermoformability of Corian® and the more than 100 colors available offer design possibilities that are not achievable with natural products. With designs from classic to modern, or traditional to exclusive, it blends into any environment and combines beautifully with other materials.

Hygienic and easy to clean:

Integrated bowls without any visible joints and angles between horizontal and vertical parts prevent accumulation of dirt and humidity, ensuring the highest standards of hygiene. Corian® installations are exceptionally quick and easy to clean with common household products.

A worthwhile and lasting investment:

Corian® is non-porous, stain resistant and does not delaminate. Scratches and cigarette burns can easily be removed. In case of damage, it can be repaired on site, thus minimizing downtime and unavailability of rooms.

The DuPont warranty:

All installations fitted by a member of the DuPont Quality Network are covered by a limited 10-year installed warranty, in addition to the DuPont product 10-year warranty.

Corian® - once captivated, you will always come back!
